A Muslim Minority Leaders Colloquium

The World for All Foundation, in association with the International Union of Muslim Scholars, are honoured to invite you to participate in an historic Muslim Minority Leaders' Colloquium in Paris, France from 29 to 31 March 2013, insha-Allah.

Under the theme: "Living Where We Don't Make the Rules", the Colloquium intends having an in-depth and structured discussion among a sample of Muslim Minority Leaders drawn from the main continents where Muslims find themselves as a numerical minority. We would like to evoke discussions and analyses around the main challenges confronting Muslim Minorities, successful examples of integration efforts, and lessons learnt that would advance an Islamic paradigm of living as a minority. These thoughts are summarized in the attached Communiqué.

We would be greatly honored should you agree to participate in the Colloquium, given the rich background in thought and practice that you represent. Should you be positively inclined to participate, we would appreciate you urgently responding to the Colloquium organizer, Rosieda Shabodien at e-mail address: world4allfoundation@gmail.com, in order to facilitate logistical arrangements.

We sincerely hope that you would be both available and willing to be part of this process, insha-Allah, and on receipt of a positive response from your side, we would furnish you with more details of the Colloquium, including the Proposal and the Programme, as well as the details of our specific expectation we have for your participation.

We have also entered into a partnership with the International Institute For Islamic Thought (IIIT) to capture the MML Colloquium proceedings in a post Colloquium publication. Furthermore, we are negotiating with media outlets to carry the outcomes of the Colloquium further.

All the best and we hope to see you at the MML Colloquium-Insha'Allah.
